What is “personal data”?

Personal Information vs. Sensitive Personal Information

Personal Information

Sec. 3 (g), DPA

Personal Information (PI) refers to any information whether recorded in a material form or not, from which the identity of an individual is apparent or can be reasonably and directly ascertained by the entity holding the information, or when put together with other information would directly and certainly identify an individual.

- Any information
- Recorded or not
- Can identify an individual
- Or identity can be reasonably ascertained
- Or when put together with other information would directly and certainly identify an individual

Sensitive Personal Information

Sec. 3 (I), DPA

Sensitive Personal Information refers to personal information:

1. About an individual's race, ethnic origin, marital status, age, color, and religious, philosophical or political affiliations;
2. About an individual's health, education, genetic or sexual life of a person, or to any proceeding for any offense committed or alleged to have been committed by such person, the disposal of such proceedings, or the sentence of any court in such proceedings;
3. Issued by government agencies peculiar to an individual which includes, but not limited to, social security numbers, previous or current health records, licenses or its denials, suspension or revocation, and tax returns; and
4. Specifically established by an executive order or an act of Congress to be kept classified.

Reveals

- Race, ethnic origin, color
- Age, marital status
- Religious, philosophical, and political affiliation

Concerns

- Health
- Education
- Genetic or sexual life
- Proceedings for any offense, its disposal, sentence of court arising from such proceeding

Issued by government agencies

- Social security numbers
- Previous or current health records
- Licenses or its denials, suspension, or revocations
- Tax returns

Why do we need to protect personal data?

It is required by law

It builds trust

It prevents and mitigates risk
