INTRODUCTION AND FOCUS QUESTION(S)

Have you at a certain time asked yourself why there are conflicts? Or what causes these conflicts in the first place? Are they inevitable by nature? The correct answer to the last question is apparently no. Have you ever thought that even in scientific and biblical references, the world began with chaos? How has that been developed and formed throughout the years? Have conflicts grown as humans do? What conflicts have you involved yourself with and among these, what have you partially or totally resolved? Were you effective in resolving those conflicts? How did you know?

The skill in resolving conflicts is very essential as humans respond to different stimuli around them. These conflicts might as well be shared by two or three persons or a group of individuals. Nevertheless, resolving these conflicts is never a walk in the park. It is imperative of any person to solve his or her conflicts but in doing so, it leads to complications and never-ending resolutions. In this manner, when can we say that conflicts are really solved? Are there really solutions to them? Or they are just products of human imaginations? Resolving conflicts in reality entails set of experiences, expertise and values, just as reading conflicts solved by the characters you read in books, watch in films and witness in plays.

In this module, you will find out how characters in texts and films experienced struggles, complications and challenges that ignited them to make wise decisions at the end of the day. Likewise, you will also discover gradually as the activities unravel your misconceptions and questions about this matter that what you are is the product of what you read, watch and value in your society. Hence, remember to search for the answer to the following question(s):

1. What determines an effective resolution to a conflict?
2. Why are arguments necessary in resolving conflicts between people and groups of individuals?
3. How does one express his or her perspective in resolving interpersonal conflicts?
LESSONS AND COVERAGE:
In this module, you will examine these questions when you take the following lessons:

Lesson 1 – Analyzing Issues

EXPECTED SKILLS:

To do well in this module, you need to remember and do the following:

A. Reading and Study Skills
   1. Read the instructions carefully.
   2. Read closely to get inferences from the materials used.
   3. Take down notes and copy some important links so that you can go back whenever you need information given on that particular site.
   4. Do the web test for several times and don’t forget to click on the correct answer for your reference.

B. Listening Comprehension
   1. Listen attentively to speakers to note on important details in their speeches.
   2. Evaluate listening texts carefully in terms of accuracy, validity, adequacy, and relevance.

C. Oral and Language Fluency
   1. Observe the correct stance and proper stage behavior in delivering a speech.
   2. Speak with confidence when delivering a speech.

D. Writing and Composition
   1. Use writing conventions and techniques in composing a paragraph.
   2. Review the use of grammatical elements in English before finalizing your written output.
Here is a pre-assessment you have to take before the lessons in this module. Read the instruction very carefully to answer the items related to the lessons presented.

PRE-ASSESSMENT:
Let’s find out how much you already know about this module. Click on the letter that you think best answers the question. Please answer all items. After taking this short test, you will see your score. Take note of the items that you were not able to correctly answer and look for the right answer as you go through this module.

(A) 1. Which of the following does not describe a thesis statement of an argumentative essay?
   A. It states the topic.
   B. It articulates the position that the essay will argue.
   C. It identifies the problem.
   D. It expands the claims.

(A) 2. Which part of the argumentative essay shows the awareness of own argument’s weakness and explains why, despite those weakness, own arguments are still correct?
   A. Thesis statement
   B. Background information
   C. Counter arguments
   D. Main arguments

(A) 3. Which tone is represented in the following passage?
   “Wow! With a top speed of one hundred fifty miles per hour, that car can almost fly!”
   A. calm
   B. annoyed
   C. scary
   D. excited

(A) 4. What does the given graph tell about international conflicts?

B. Extra state conflicts did not end.
C. Intra state conflicts ended in the 1970’s.
D. Conflicts did not decline through the years.

(A) 5. The word is terracide. It is not committed with guns and knives, but with relentless bulldozers, roaring dump trucks, and giant shovels like mythological beasts. Dynamite cuts and rips apart mountains to reach the minerals inside, leaving nothing but empty, naked hills. The land is left wasted and allowed to slide down upon houses and into streams, making the land unlivable and the stream water undrinkable. This is terracide, or if you prefer, strip mining.

The author’s purpose is to describe a strip mining operation. What helped readers see the purpose?
A. The sentences are all descriptions of what mining brings.
B. The sentences used were familiar to the reader.
C. The sentences were all negative.
D. The sentences defined terracide.

(A) 6. “It is a demonstrable fact that efforts to reduce carbon emissions haven’t worked. Despite the conferences, the treaties and the pledges, global carbon emissions continue to rise – up 6.7% from 2009 to 2010. The world’s largest economies continue to be the worst offenders and, with the BRIC economies joining their ranks, that look set to continue.” Based on the passage, which of the following best expresses the affirmative motion?
A. Resolve that prevention be the priority of the people to combat climate change
B. Resolve that adaptation be the urgent response to climate change
C. Resolve that climate change be given an utmost priority
D. Resolve that people be compelled to respond to climate change

(A) 7. Below is a graph showing the results of the National Achievement Test performance of the 3 schools, namely: the East, West, and North Central Schools, in the last 4 quarters.
Which of the following claims of fact is fairly acceptable?
A. The North Central School has been consistent with its performance for the past 4 quarters compared to East and West Central Schools.
B. The East Central School has the lowest performance in National Achievement Test.
C. The West Central School only ranked 2nd in the National Achievement Test.
D. The 3 schools performed differently from each other.

(A) 8. Which of the following advertisements explicitly uses bias and prejudice?

C.

D.

Fantine (singing) from Les Miserables

There was a time when men were kind
When their voices were soft
And their words inviting
There was a time when love was blind
And the world was a song
And the song was exciting
There was a time
Then it all went wrong
I dreamed a dream in times gone by
When hope was high
And life worth living
I dreamed that love would never die
I dreamed that God would be forgiving
Then I was young and unafraid
And dreams were made and used and wasted
There was no ransom to be paid
No song unsung

(M) 9. What kept the persona strong despite the societal issues faced?
   A. She never lost hope.
   B. She recalled the wonderful memories.
   C. She was still young.
   D. She was unafraid.

Excerpt from Desiderata

Go placidly amid the noise and the haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence.
As far as possible, without surrender,
be on good terms with all persons.
Speak your truth quietly and clearly;
and listen to others,
even to the dull and the ignorant;
they too have their story.
Avoid loud and aggressive persons;
they are vexatious to the spirit.
If you compare yourself with others,
you may become vain or bitter,
for always there will be greater and lesser persons than yourself.
Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.
Keep interested in your own career, however humble;
it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.

(M) 10. What advice does the poem give about dealing with difficulties?
   A. Mind your own business.
   B. Maintain good relationship with others.
   C. Gather more fortune.
   D. Develop your career.
11. Which line from the poem tells you preserve your integrity amidst the changing world?
   A. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans.
   B. Avoid loud and aggressive persons; they are vexatious to the spirit.
   C. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain or bitter,
   D. Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.

12. Which of the following texts is more convincing in presenting perspectives about societal issues to be solved?
   A. That old axiom about three being a crowd is never truer than when two out of three are fighting. Playing the neutral third party while your friends engage in all-out battle is exhausting and precarious. Handle it right and everyone's happy. Handle it wrong and all three of you could end up parting ways.

   B. The parents of two southwest suburban teens are tense as they make their way through the metal detectors just inside the 6th District Municipal Courthouse in Markham. Standing next to their children who are accused of writing graffiti on public property, the parents take their seats inside an 8-by-10 room, where they are joined by two people who represent the victim in this case. At the head of the rectangular table are three mediators, whose job is to find an amicable resolution between the victim and the young offenders. Bloom Township's conflict resolution program, which started in April, is one of dozens of alternative programs in Cook County that are aimed at first-time juvenile offenders who have committed non-violent crimes. The goal is to help them bypass the court system while making sure the youngsters understand what they did was wrong.

   C. Jerry will hit back if punched, but it's not an option he prefers. In a year, he has gone from a combatant to a peacemaker. "It's more mature not to fight," he said, "because you won't end up hurting somebody. It means you have more sense." His outlook grew from his schooling at the Good News Educational Workshop, an alternative Christian school in Rogers Park, where children are taught to settle disputes without violence and encouraged to resolve grudges before they fester.

   D. In its charting of a Chicago epidemic and belief in the power of street-level human empathy, the superb documentary "The Interrupters" comes to us at a time when the notion of conflict resolution has been sidelined utterly on the national political level. This is why every member of the U.S. House, the U.S. Senate, the White House and the tea party, let alone anybody simply interested in meeting some complicated and remarkable Chicagoans, should see the film. It chronicles genuine conflict resolution that appears to get results — politically savvy, consensus-building results — one difficult day at a time.

(M) 13. The answer above best expresses the concept of an argumentative essay because_________________.
   A. It persuades the audience or the readers to avoid conflicts.
   B. It is coherent, short but succinct and it poses a challenge for an act to be done.
   C. It uses real scenarios in explaining conflicts.
   D. It convinces audience or readers to avoid conflicts.

(M) 14. Which of the following situations resolves a conflict effectively?
A.
B.
C.
D.

(T) 15. What is the most important criterion of an argumentative speech?
   A. It must be persuasive
   B. It must be long.
   C. It must unique.
   D. It must be appealing.

(T) 16. What is an important factor to consider when you write an argumentative speech?
   A. Appeal
   B. Clarity
   C. Brevity
   D. Credibility
17. Being an editor of a news magazine, they have invited you to write an argumentative essay about society and culture to make the world understand how these two factors allow conflicts to be resolved. Which of the following best expresses the main idea of your argumentative essay?

A. Society has influenced people’s perspective in dealing with conflicts.
B. Conflicts are societal and cultural.
C. Society and culture are important factors in solving conflicts.
D. Conflicts are better solved when society and culture are considered.

18. The writer of the best argumentative essay will be given an opportunity to deliver his or her speech in Ted Talks. Which of the following should you do if given the chance to deliver your argumentative speech in Ted Talks?

A. Deliver the only important parts with conviction.
B. Memorize the whole argumentative essay and deliver with persuasion.
C. Creatively deliver the argumentative essay to catch attention.
D. Present video materials instead of you talking.

19. How will you catch the attention of your listeners?

A. Make your voice loud.

D. You speak enthusiastically.
Lesson 1: Analyzing Issues

EXPLORE

ACTIVITY NO. 1: Imagine

John Lennon was the most iconic Beatle. He was group's most committed rock & roller, its social conscience, and its slyest verbal wit. With the Beatles, he wrote or co-wrote dozens of classics – from "She Loves You" to "Come Together" – and delivered many of them with a cutting, humane, and distinct voice that would make him one of the greatest singers rock has ever produced.

This site shows a video of the lyrics and music of the song, Imagine

After listening to the song, fill in this map with important points from the song. You can add more thought bubbles if necessary.
Let’s Discuss: (Process Questions)

1. What are the ideas presented in the stanzas of the song? Do you agree with them? Why?

2. What message does John Lennon, the composer of the song aim to express in the song? Do you agree with this message? Why?

3. Which of those wishes are your wishes too? Is it possible to fulfill these wishes? Why?

4. Do you think that through the song’s message, the composer is only spreading propaganda? Justify your answer.

5. In your opinion, what does Lennon mean by the world being one? Will resolving interpersonal conflicts help toward achieving unity and peace?

6. How does one express his perspective in resolving interpersonal conflicts?

7. How can an argumentative essay be effective in resolving interpersonal conflicts?

The song gave problems as a cause of people’s unhappiness and disunity. The disunity resulted from conflicts that arise among the people. We may have different opinions and ways by which problems and conflict can be solved. What about you? Compare and contrast your ways of resolving conflicts with what you commonly see and hear about how other people would do it.

Other people and I have the same way of resolving interpersonal conflicts because we ______________, _______________ and ________________.
Other people and I differ in the way we resolve interpersonal conflicts because
Other people ________________________, but I ______________________.
Other people ________________________, but I ______________________.
Other people ________________________, but I ______________________.

Now that you have listed your ways of dealing with conflicts, let’s check your initial thoughts on the following skills involved in resolving conflicts by writing a list of what you already know in the comfort zone boxes.

Skills
* Expressing perspectives

* Analyzing literature & relating them to life

* Writing an argumentative essay

End of EXPLORE:

You gave your initial ideas on expressing perspective, analyzing literature and relating them to life, and writing an argumentative essay. You also signed a contract which you are obliged to follow for you to be successful in your learning.

Let’s find out how others would answer the comfort zone and compare their ideas to your own. As you compare, you will find out if your ideas are in line with the standard. You will also learn other concepts which will help you complete a required project found at the end. This project is about writing an argumentative essay.
FIRM UP

Your goal in this section is to learn and understand key concepts on expressing perspectives, literary analysis and writing argumentative essay. In this section there are activities that will help you answer essential questions. You will also be reading literary works from the different places in the world. It’s like taking a trip around the globe for free!

ACTIVITY NO. 2: Let it go!
Have you ever had the chance of getting involved in an interpersonal conflict? What did you do? Here is a movie entitled, "Frozen." Observe how the two sisters resolve the conflict that they got into.

Click and watch the movie.

Let’s Discuss:

1. What was the reason of the conflict?

2. Who wanted to resolve the conflict? Cite supporting text.

3. How did Anna and Elsa solve their conflict? Do you agree to how they did it? Explain.

4. Which of the two characters gave the best approach in expressing her perspective? Why?

5. Do you think it is also applicable to you? To others? Why?

6. How does one express perspective in resolving this type of interpersonal conflicts?

You have just seen how siblings try to resolve interpersonal conflicts through the movie clips. It may not be true to all and to other situations but you have an idea what factors affect the way people deal with the conflict. Now, let’s discover how other groups of people would do it in a different situation.
ACTIVITY NO. 3: Judge me!
Let’s take a trip to Russia by reading a story written by Leo Tolstoy entitled, “The Just Judge.” Here’s a ticket about the author.

Count Leo Nikolayevich Tolstoy was born to wealthy aristocratic parents but became an orphan when he was nine. He joined the Russian army but the sufferings he witnessed made him question the war’s moral implications. After years of moral questioning, he denounced everything relating to capitalism, ownership, czarist government, etc. He became the leader of Utopian movement that championed the poor and adhered to social justice.

Before you start reading, look at the title and the given illustrations in the link. Write down your predictions about what the story will cover.

I think this story is about _________________________  Word Pops  __________
                     _________________________  __________

You may have listed several word pops. To guide you, here are some words that you will encounter as you read. Explore these words by getting their meaning from an online dictionary and put their synonym below each.

As you finish reading each paragraph or key sections of the story, summarize the main idea of that paragraph or section in one or two complete sentences. Write them in the first column of the table. For each main idea listed, write down at least one question that the main idea will answer. Good questions should include words like “who”, “when”, “why” and “what”.

Look up the meaning of the words not clear to you and discuss with your peers in the discussion board to clarify these so that you will be able to understand the story well.
Let’s Discuss:

1. What were the interpersonal conflicts involved in the story?

2. How does the judge learn the truth about each conflict?

3. How did the judge settle the disputes? Do you agree to what he did? Why?

4. Could the same thing be done in resolving any other interpersonal conflicts? How about in our country’s justice system? Explain.

5. How did the judge express his perspective?

6. How should one express his perspective in resolving the interpersonal conflicts?

ACTIVITY NO. 4: Hear me, Heed me!

When we are caught in a difficult situation, we find ourselves entangled with conflicts. Let us take a journey to France and learn more about how a complicated interpersonal conflict was handled in “The Song of Roland.”
Here’s a ticket to help you in your reading.

The Song of Roland is one of the earliest examples of the Old French “songs of deeds.” It is also considered as the national epic of France for it is based on a historical event during the time of Charlemagne, the King of the Franks from A.D. 768-814.

Click the link below and read the text.

This site shows the text translated in English

How well did you read? Let’s find out by paraphrasing the song. Paraphrasing means to translate something into your own words. If you put information into your own words, it will make you think about what you’ve read and you will more likely understand and remember it. Paraphrase only 110, 130, 131, 176. Be guided by the RAP steps:

Read the song again and be sure to think about what the words mean.

Ask yourself the following questions:
  a. What was the main idea of each stanza?
  b. What are the details that support the main idea?

Put the main idea and details in your own words.

Paraphrase:
Let’s explore the words used in the song. Complete the given statements based from how the highlighted words were used in the song.

1. When the small French rear guard is outnumbered, it means that __________________________________________________________.

2. They strike means that Roland, Oliver, the Archbishop, and the Twelve Peers ________________________________________________________.

3. When Oliver told Roland that Frenchmen are dead because of your wildness he meant that ________________________________________.

4. Roland confesses his sins, prays to God for mercy. It shows that ________________________________________________________.

5. Then God sent him his Cherubim and Saint Michael is also saying that ________________________________________________________.

Let’s Discuss:

1. Where do you think the event happened? Cite supporting text.
2. Who are the main characters?
3. What caused the interpersonal conflict? What are the reasons behind each character’s response?
4. How did Archbishop ease the tension? Did it resolve the interpersonal conflict? Why?
5. Was the Archbishop’s action appropriate to the situation? Why?
6. If you were one of the characters, how would you react?
7. How does one express his perspective in resolving this kind of conflict?

5.
The theme is the main idea or subject matter of a story. It communicates a universal truth or a significant statement that the story is making about society, human nature, or the human condition. The theme of a story can be determined by paying close attention to the incidents in the story and by reading between the lines of what the characters say or by paying close attention to personal comments inserted by the author. It grows out of the relationship of the other elements such as character, plot, setting, structure, language and point of view. Click the link to have more knowledge about the theme.

ACTIVITY NO. 9: What for?
You have learned that authors use literary devices in their literary works. Do you also know that authors have a purpose in writing? When one writes, definitely one has a purpose that he/she wishes to impart to the readers. The author may want to inform, persuade, convince, or entertain. You have to be a critical reader to determine the writer’s purpose. Click to the links given for more readings about determining author’s purpose.

ACTIVITY NO. 10: Purposeful reading
Read each paragraph given below and determine the purpose of the writer. Write your answer in the arrow and submit.

Cholera is a painful disease of the stomach and the intestines that causes cramps, vomiting, weakness and diarrhea.

A young man and a girl stood in front of us, immaculate in their white clothes. The girl had sleeveless dress with a standing collar. Her hair was tucked with a red ribbon behind her head, accentuating the fullness of her face.

Mozart and Schubert were the two most prodigious prodigies in musical history. Both died in their thirties, and both died of overwork. Despite the shortness of their lives, each left behind him more completed works that almost any other major composer.

Let’s Discuss:

1. How do literary devices help in developing the theme? In expressing the author’s purpose?

2. Is extracting the theme and author’s purpose important? Why?

3. Will these help you express your perspective? Explain.

ACTIVITY NO. 11: Critical reading
You have explored the literary devices and deduced the theme and author’s purpose. These are useful tools in reading which will help you not only understand the texts that you will be reading but also develop your critical reading. You may clearly understand what you read, but you must learn to read and think critically. This demands that you be aware of your attitudes and prejudices that may influence your reading and thinking. Let’s try doing a critical reading of another story. Here’s a ticket to start your journey, this time, in Africa.

Born Albert Chinualumogu Achebe in 1930, Achebe grew up in the Ibo village of Ogidi at that time that Nigeria was still a British colony. He abandoned the idea of being a doctor (though he won a scholarship for it) to pursue his love of literature and growing involvement in Africa nationalism.

He dropped his first name, which was given by his parents in honor of the husband of Queen Victoria as a manifestation of defining his roots.

Main Idea Words:
You have listed the main idea words in the sheet. Write a summary of the selection using as many of the main idea words as possible. Put one word in each blank. Imagine you have only P40.00 and that each word you use is worth 2 pesos. You’ll sum it up in 20 words!

Let’s Discuss:
1. Where did the interpersonal conflict lie? Cite supporting text.

2. What were the reasons for the conflict? Discuss.

3. How did Nene express her perspective to Okeke?

4. Will it resolve the conflict between them? Explain and cite supporting text.

5. Was the approach of Nene effective? Justify your answer.

6. How does one express his perspective in resolving interpersonal conflicts?

When you did the Sum It Up worksheet, how did you carefully choose the words to use? Was it easy? Knowing the meaning of words is also important in critical reading. Thus, you must be familiar with the definitions of words. English is rich in vocabulary that sometimes we get confused of what the words really mean. Words may have technical and operational definitions.

Technical definition is a very detailed description of a term, process or phenomenon. When preparing a document many times the writer has to use some term that might be unknown to the audience, but is an essential to understand the author's idea. The length of the definition depends on the complexity of the term and the audience for which it is designed.

An operational definition defines something (e.g. a variable, term, or object) in terms of the specific process or set of validation tests used to determine its presence and quantity. That is, one defines something in terms of the operations that count as measuring it. The term was coined by Percy Williams Bridgman and is a part of the process of Operationalization. One might use definitions that rely on operations in order to avoid the troubles associated with attempting to define things in terms of some intrinsic essence.

ACTIVITY NO. 14: Word Power
Being aware of the suggestive power of words is very important in writing effectively. A writer can choose words which may better describe what he would like to mean, or make his writing more colorful and powerful. Nene expressed herself through the letter and the words she used moved Okeke. If you had been with Okeke, what would you tell him? Would you agree with him or not? How would you express agreement or disagreement properly?
There are certain expressions that one uses in agreeing or disagreeing with another's opinion. Here are some examples. Can you add more? Remember to do this with utmost courtesy and respect for other's ideas, opinions and feelings.

Try it! Express your agreement or disagreement to the given statements below and explain why. Post your response in your twitter account and check how many will follow and comment.

ACTIVITY NO. 15: To argue or not to argue

How many followed your tweet? What were their comments? Did you ARGUE with them? Argumentation is the art of presenting reasons to arrive at a truth that is acceptable to others. It is used in our everyday dealing with one another, whether in social media or real situation. It is likened to persuasion. Argument appeals to logical and sound reasoning whereas persuasion is to the will. If you want to change conditions or to convert others, use argumentation in your speech or essay. Almost all arguments begin with conciliation, which means getting the goodwill of the audience, rousing their interest, and conditioning them to believe what is asserted. The elements of an argument include thesis, issues, evidence.

It is better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all.

Among nature’s calamities, a flood is worse than fire.

It is better to suffer wrong than to do it.
Would you like to improve your tweet? How can you make more people follow your tweet? You must be able to compose a very effective argumentative essay.

ACTIVITY NO. 19: Quoted, Noted
You have just learned how to formulate an argumentative essay and what the parts of such essay are. You even made a draft and revised it on your own. Did you have enough evidence to support your proposition? It is important to consider that a presumed fact, an opinion or a judgment should not be accepted unless it is supported by valid evidence. These evidences may come from experience, observations, and readings from documents. You may cite statements made by famous people. It is quite difficult sometimes to convey the same idea and feeling the speaker had as he or she spoke a particular line. This is the very reason why the exact words are to be used. These exact words are referred to as direct quotations because the precise words are written down and are placed within quotation marks.

What is on your mind right now? Do you think the same way other teenagers do? Adults? Let’s travel back to the Philippines and get to know how a teenage girl expressed her perspectives. Here’s a ticket to orient you.

This event showed the Filipinos at their finest – very religious, tempered in their emotions, peaceful yet forceful making the whole world wonder and ponder how it was to topple a strong dictator with no bloodshed.

5. Would you have also done what she did? Why?

6. In what way are Joan and Nene in “Marriage is a Private Affair” similar? Different?

7. What do you think are the factors that affected the way each character expressed his perspective?
ACTIVITY NO. 22: Men’s version
If Joan wrote a letter in the middle of crisis, the character that you are about to meet did it differently. It’s time to take a journey to Greece and meet a man named, Odysseus. Here’s a ticket for the reading trip.

Many centuries must have elapsed before the literary temper of the Greeks could produce the poems of Homer, but of these ante-Homeric literature very little remains. The dominant figure of this early age was Homer. Seven cities contended for the honor of being his birthplace.

Homer was called the blind poet of Greece. Very little is known about him, but his transcended genius is vividly impressed upon his works. His country folks called him “the Poet.” His two epics, the Iliad and the Odyssey, were learned by heart, and wherever a Greek settled, he or she carried with him or her love for Homer.

Odyssey is about Odysseus’ journey on his way back to his home Ithaca after the great Trojan War. He had experienced many difficulties before he finally arrived home to his family who had also problems with his wife’s suitors.

Click the link below and read about how Odysseus handled the suitors. While you read, take down important notes and events and save them in your tumbler.

Now that you have a deeper understanding of the topic, you are ready to do the tasks in the next section.
TRANSFER:

Your goal in this section is to apply your learning to real-life situations. You will be given a practical task which will demonstrate your understanding.

ACTIVITY NO. 27: My point of view
You will be making your own argumentative speech. Before you do the actual writing, it is important for you to organize your thoughts first. Here are some maps that you can use in your planning and organizing. Try to use these. Choose one issue that you would like to write about and choose one map to start planning.

Interpersonal Conflicts: How will these be solved?
The best way to solve conflicts: war or peace?
This site shows samples of graphic organizers.

Submit your map online. Share with your peers and discuss how you worked on the map.

Did the maps help organize your thoughts? Great! Use these maps as you start working on the next activity which is to write you own argumentative speech.
ACTIVITY NO. 28: My Perspective

The Council on Foreign Relations, an independent, nonpartisan membership organization, think tank, and publisher has been a trusted, nonpartisan source of timely analysis and context on international events and trends. They always open their doors for writers and publishers to post videos, articles, and podcasts in their website. For the month of September, their discussion focus is on resolving conflicts to have a peaceful global community. Being a party list representative, they have invited you to write an argumentative speech about “Gun control: for war or peace?” The written part of the argumentative speech needs to show clarity, coherence and depth of reasoning. Your speech presentation will be evaluated according to delivery, stage presence, and impact.

You have just accomplished the tasks. CONGRATULATIONS! How well did you do? Do not worry because the next lesson exposes you more to speech delivery. You will have a chance to improve your speaking skills.

End of TRANSFER:

In this section, your task was to write an argumentative speech and present it.

How did you find the performance task? How did the task help you see the real world use of the topic?
Fill in the Synthesis Journal with honesty. Look back at what you have accomplished for this lesson and think about the answer to the question: What is the best way to express one’s feelings and thoughts about a conflict situation.

Lesson 2: Impromptu and Extemporaneous Speech

EXPLORE

Let’s start this lesson by analyzing what the picture speaks about. When people engage with one another, some end with conflicts and others leave successfully communicating their thoughts, perspectives, and principles. And when these interpersonal conflicts are not processed well, they might cause more complications. Hence, this lesson will be devoted to understanding the nature of interpersonal conflicts and how one expresses his or her perspective in resolving them?

ACTIVITY NO. 1: Y SPEAK!

There are three pictures below that you are going to interpret based on their symbols and messages. If picture could speak a thousand words, then what do you think they tell us about? Think of the meaning of each illustration and how it relates to you.

A. Do you agree on the theory mentioned by the character in the picture? What does the theory mean to you?
B. Read the quotation below the image. How does one express himself or herself when angry? Is this true? Explain your side.

"Speak when you are angry and you will make the best speech you will ever regret." (Ambrose Bierce)

C. Observe the conversations of the two characters in the illustration. How does it contradict their actions?
ACTIVITY NO. 2: LET’S HEAR WHAT MAMA HAS TO SAY! (Video Clip Presentation)

In order to understand further the pictures presented above, you need to watch the video clip linked below. Be able to identify the cause of the conflict and its nature and what triggers their emotions to get into a fight. Identify words being used and actions being done to justify your observation.

Interpersonal Conflict:
http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_ZpDnXYIFjo

Process Questions to Answer:
1. Who are involved in the conflict?
2. What is the nature of the conflict you watched? What causes it to heat up?
   3. How do you assess the action and the language of each character involved in the scene? Is there understanding between them? Why?
4. Is there a resolution to the conflict presented? If yes, then how was it done? If no, then what could have been done?
5. How do the pictures above relate to the video you just watched?
6. How should the characters express their perspectives to resolve their conflict?

ACTIVITY NO. 3: ELICITING PRIOR KNOWLEDGE THROUGH I-R-F CHART

Given below is an I-R-F sheet. Fill in the first row with your answer to the question presented:

| How does one express his or her perspective in resolving interpersonal conflicts? |
| Initial Response: |
| Revised Response: |
| Final Response: |

SAVE
ACTIVITY NO. 4: ELICITING PRIOR KNOWLEDGE THROUGH A FRAYER’S MODEL

You have answered the I-R-F sheet above based on your initial response to the question given. Below is a chart of a Frayer’s Model. In the chart, you are to fill-out the necessary details of its part to fully conceptualize the ideas of an Impromptu and Extemporaneous speeches.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What concepts have you built while filling out the Frayer’s Model charts?
2. How does an impromptu speech differ from an extemporaneous speech based on your initial responses?
3. Why are impromptu and extemporaneous speeches important?
4. Which kind of speech helps you express your perspective in resolving conflicts?

End of EXPLORE
You just have given your initial ideas on resolving conflicts and its vehicles in communicating resolutions through the use of impromptu and extemporaneous speeches. Find out in the next section if your ideas are correct. What you learn in the next sections will enable you to do the final project which involves different tasks on resolving interpersonal conflicts through delivering either an impromptu or extemporaneous speech.

We will start by doing the next activity.

FIRM UP
Even if speeches may sound the same, such as in debates, forums, colloquia, reports, orations, welcome remarks, and the like, they all follow structures and elements. Usually, people generalize that all speeches are just the same speaking engagements. Nevertheless, they have forgotten that a speech is composed of complex syntactic structure and spoken phonetic elements.
Your goal in this section is to learn and understand the formation and development of impromptu and extemporaneous speeches. Moreover, you will explain how these speeches are used to express perspectives in resolving conflicts.
ACTIVITY NO. 5: STAND AND DELIVER

Extemporaneous is the most natural method of delivery and it involves glancing at notes while maintaining crucial eye contact with the audience. It is composed of elements and structures that either is persuasive or informative in nature. At top levels, extemporaneous is a smooth, dynamic performance that incorporates research, background knowledge, and opinion.

Use the link to further enhance your understanding of an extemporaneous speech: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Zn6yKoj5CRA

Click the link below and take note of important details using this site, http://notes.io/. Use this link as your notebook for the duration of this lesson.

Scribble your ideas and the details of the video here!

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What makes up an extemporaneous speech?
2. How do speakers deliver an extemporaneous speech?
3. How does an extemporaneous speech help people in their day-to-day living?

ACTIVITY NO. 6: THE KING’S SPEECH

Watch the sample speech delivered by King George VI, played by Colin Firth in a 2010 British historical drama film entitled, “The King’s Speech” directed by Tom Hooper and written by David Seidler. He was also with Lionel Logue, an Australian speech and language therapist played by Geoffrey Rush.

Watch the video clip of “The King’s Speech” here: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6fY3BOcjAnw

Process Questions to Answer:
1. How did King George VI deliver his speech before his audience or his listeners? Describe his performance by citing situations from the scene.
2. Do you consider it a speech? Why?
3. Was he effective in delivering his speech? What made you say so?
4. What message did he convey to his listeners?
5. How was it written in the sample video clip?

In the previous lesson, you learned how to write an argumentative essay. In this part, allow yourself to practice summarizing speeches and analyze their compositions using your understanding on the nature of extemporaneous speeches. Hence, you will do worksheet #1.

WORKSHEET #1: OUTLINING AN EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

Apply your knowledge of writing an essay, the composition of an extemporaneous speech and the skill in making an outline to complete the worksheet below.

Using King George’s speech, summarize its content and identify its purpose for you to add your concept of an extemporaneous speech.

ACTIVITY NO. 7: I HAVE A DREAM!

History has produced different speeches of great men and they have become the basis of people to revisit history. Here is another speech of a king who made a huge difference in the lives of the discriminated and the unprivileged “Negros”. His vision is to promote equality by eradicating racism in United States. Get ready to meet him and listen to his powerful speech delivered on August 28, 1963.
Below is a picture of Martin Luther King, Jr. delivering his privilege speech.

Do you want to go back to the time when he delivered his speech? Click the link below and listen to him attentively. Be able to employ analytical listening to draw out inferences and interpretations.

Listen to his speech entitled, “I Have a Dream” here:

http://www.americanrhetoric.com/speeches/mlkihaveadream.htm

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What message did he convey to his audience?
2. What was his purpose of delivering that speech?
3. If you were one of the audiences, would you be convinced by him in taking an action as a response to his call? Why?
4. Was he effective in delivering the speech? What are your gauges in telling so?
5. How did his speech express his perspective in resolving conflicts on racism and discrimination between/among people?

Based on your responses, allow yourself to fully develop your understanding of the nature of extemporaneous speeches. Do worksheet #2 to deepen your understanding on its structure.

WORKSHEET #2: SUMMARIZING AN EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH
Apply your knowledge of summarizing a speech using the BLT Paragraph Sandwich as your guide. Be able to fill-out necessary parts of the chart to completely summarize the speech of Martin Luther King, Jr.

After completing the parts of the sandwich with their details from the speech of Martin Luther King, Jr. you listened to, create your final output in the link provided and post it in the discussion board. Click the link here: http://www.gliffy.com/
Process Questions to Answer:

1. Differentiate speeches delivered by King George VI and Martin Luther King, Jr. What similarities and differences you observed between them? Explain.
2. What makes an effective extemporaneous speaker?
3. How does one’s speech influence others? How does it make changes in the society?

How do you find the worksheets? Look at the items you missed before you proceed to the next activity. Go back to your notes in http://notes.io/ and review the terms or concepts you missed.

You learned how extemporaneous speeches are made of. In the next activity, you will use this concept to write your own speech and deliver it just like the characters you met previously in this lesson.

ACTIVITY NO. 8: FREE AT LAST! FREE AT LAST!

Previously on the speech of Martin Luther King, Jr. you listened to, you discovered how passionate he was in convincing people to act against racism and discrimination. In your own perspective, how is that speech related to your experiences after couple of centuries that passed. Write your response to his message by delivering an extemporaneous speech. Be able to fill-out the POW + TREE Strategy below in making your outline and deliver it afterwards. Do worksheet #3.
WORKSHEET #3: OUTLINING AN EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

Apply your knowledge of outlining certain topics in delivering a speech. Be able to fill-out the parts for you to be guided in completing your extemporaneous speech.

Congratulations! You have just completed the table above. At this juncture, you summarize your ideas in the TREE part using Malcolm’s graphic organizer below.
Now that you have just completed Malcolm’s graphic organizer, your next job is to finalize your extemporaneous speech by doing worksheet #4.

WORKSHEET #4: FINAL DRAFT OF THE EXTEMPORANEOUS SPEECH

Congratulations! You have now a sample of your own extemporaneous speech. Post your work on this site www.voki.com for others to critic and comment.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. How did you respond to the message delivered by Martin Luther King, Jr.?
2. What helped you express your ideas about the topic you want to deliver?
3. How effective are the worksheets you answered to come up with a final speech?

How do you find the worksheets? Look at the items you missed before you proceed to the next activity. Go back to your notes in http://notes.io/ and review the terms or concepts you missed.

ACTIVITY NO. 9: THE BUZZ!

In this activity, you will deliver the extemporaneous speech you made in the previous worksheets. Likewise, review the tips in speaking extemporaneously before you do your final performance.
Ten Commandments in Speaking Extemporaneously

1. Exude Confidence
2. Relax
3. Simplicity is Key
4. Slow Down! Slow Down! Slow Down!
5. Remember Shakespeare’s "Speak the Speech"…which continues
6. Convey Passion
7. Nothing is pleasant that is not spiced with variety
8. Let it Flow!
9. Look the judge in the eye - always!
10. Love what you do!

For more details of these tips, click the link here: https://debate.uvm.edu/NFL/rostrumlib/EbelingMar99.pdf

Be able to take note of the important details that will help you deliver your speech effectively. Write your notes in your notebook linked in http://notes.io/. Review your notes once in a while so that you will be guided accordingly.

Moreover, use the rubric below for your guidance in delivering your extemporaneous speech.

Now that you are ready to deliver your extemporaneous speech, record your performance and post it in www.youtube.com for others to comment and see.
Process Questions to Answer:
1. How was your experience in delivering an extemporaneous speech?
2. Were you effective in expressing your perspective in dealing with the issue you raised? In what way/s?
3. Based on your assessments, answer the worksheet below before proceeding to the next activity.

WORKSHEET #5: SELF-REGULATED LEARNING
Apply your knowledge of evaluating oneself. How did you see yourself while doing the activities? Fill-out the boxes objectively.

3 things I learned from the activity:

2 things I discovered about myself while doing the activity:

1 thing I have to develop in myself for the next activities like this:

ACTIVITY NO. 10: TOASTMASTER'S WANNABE!

In the previous activities, you learned about the elements and structure of extemporaneous speeches. In the next activities, you will discover another type of speech that may be similar or different from the one you learned and that is what you will find out. Are you ready? Impromptu speech is given with little or no preparation, usually about a topic that the speaker knows well. Likewise, the delivery will naturally be more conversational and spontaneous. Click the link below for further information about impromptu speech. Be able to take note of important details using this site, http://notes.io/. Use this link as your notebook for the duration of this lesson.

ACTIVITY NO. 11: TO THE FAIREST OF ALL!

Read the excerpt of the introduction of Iliad by Homer in the classical period. The abduction of Helen in Iliad is actually not its beginning. There is a more interesting exposition as to how it really started. Be able to identify important details in the excerpt so that you can answer the questions below. Use your online notebook in http://notes.io/ to take note of necessary information you find while reading.

Zeus, the father of the gods, seemed to have realized that the earth was getting terribly overcrowded. To solve the problem of overpopulation, he devised a great war which would sweep like a conflagration over Greece. This was the Trojan War.

A minor goddess, Thetis, was married to a mortal, Peleus. Out of this marriage, Achilles, the greatest Greek warrior, was born. Eris, the goddess of mischief, was not invited to the marriage feast, so into the middle of the banquet hall she threw a golden apple. The golden apple has this note: To the fairest of the goddesses. Each of the most beautiful of the goddesses - namely, Hera, Athena, and Aphrodite - claimed the golden apple.

A quarrel ensued and Father Zeus was asked to decide who was the most beautiful of the three. This placed Zeus in a predicament since Hera was his own wife and Athena and Aphrodite were his own daughters. So he parted the clouds covering Mount Olympus, the dwelling place of the gods, and showed the three goddesses a prince of Troy named Alexandros.

Zeus suggested that the three beauty contestants take their problem to Alexandros and ask him to decide. The goddesses descended upon the earth, circled Alexandros by turns, and each proceeded to bribe him so that he would award her the golden apple. Hera promised him power; Athena promised him wisdom; Aphrodite promised that she would give him the most beautiful woman in the world for his wife. Alexandros awarded the golden apple to Aphrodite.

It happened that Helen the most beautiful woman in the world was already married to Menelaos, king of Sparta. With the help of Aphrodite, Alexandros abducted Helen and took her to Troy where she remained until the end of the ensuing Trojan War. That is the reason why she is called Helen of Troy. The Greeks banded together to restore Helen of Menelaos. Agamemnon, King of Mycenae, was their general.

Many adventurous Greek heroes joined the Greek expeditionary forces. Among them were Achilles, the greatest and bravest of the Greek heroes; Odysseus, the clever and witty warrior; Diomedes, the bold one; Nestor, the prudent old man; Aias, the giant; and a host of other heroes.

After ten years of preparation, the Greek army landed in Troy and began to attack its fortifications. The Iliad begins in the tenth year of the war.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What causes the conflict in Iliad?
2. Was the decision of Alexandros fair enough to give the apple to Aphrodite? Why?
3. How did Eris, Zeus and Alexandros express their perspectives in resolving conflicts?
4. Were they effective in resolving their conflicts? Why or why not?
5. Which parts of the excerpt you can consider samples of impromptu speeches? Describe in details.

In the previous activities, you learned how to summarize speeches of great men in the history. At this juncture, you will choose a part of the excerpt in the mythological background of Iliad and outline an impromptu speech to be used in actual presentation. Use worksheet #6 as your guide in presenting your answer.

WORKSHEET #6: OUTLINING AN IMPROMPTU SPEECH
Apply your knowledge of outlining topics for your impromptu speech based on the parts of the mythological background of Iliad. Be able to follow the structure and elements of an impromptu speech you learned in the video presentation previously.

ACTIVITY NO. 12: CALL ME MAYBE!

You just have completed your outline for an impromptu speech. In this part, you will apply your understanding of the structure and elements of an impromptu speech and respond to the situation called for. Remember, one of the elements in delivering an impromptu speech is it requires quick responses. Below is a comic strip of characters conversing over the telephone. Study the situation and respond to each text box by making meaningful conversations. Answer worksheet #7.
WORKSHEET #7: FILLING-OUT TELEPHONE CONVERSATIONS
Apply your knowledge of making dialogues to complete the comic strip below.

Title: _______________________________________________
Congratulations! Now that you have completed the conversations between the two characters, post your comic strip in the link www.pinterest.com for others to comments and see.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What conversation have you created using the concept of an impromptu speech?
2. How did the characters deliver their speeches? How was it different from delivering an extemporaneous speech?
3. How did the characters express themselves in solving the issue between them?
4. Was the kind of speech used effective in giving resolution to the issue? In what way?

ACTIVITY NO. 13: GODS AND GODDESSES

In this activity, you will deliver your outline written in the previous activity. You will act like the god and or the goddess in the excerpt delivering the situation called for. Be able to familiarize yourself with the character you are portraying so that it is easy for you to deliver the character's impromptu speech in the excerpt. Click the link below to review their traits and background information. Prepare your online notebook in http://notes.io/ to take note of necessary information you can use in your performance.
Process Questions to Answer:
1. Are the character traits of the gods and goddesses helpful to you? In what way?
2. How can you use the information given in your performance?

Now that you have fully understood the character you will be portraying, the next step you will do is to review your notes on how to deliver an impromptu speech. Go back and practice your speech before recording your final performance.
Moreover, use the rubric below for your guidance in delivering your impromptu speech.

ACTIVITY NO. 14: inFORMATION!

You have learned about extemporaneous and impromptu speeches in the previous activities. With the concepts you have formed and discovered, it's now time to summarize them using a Venn diagram. Be able to fill-out the parts of the diagram to fully get the bird’s eye view of the entire lesson.
Process Questions to Answer:
1. What differences have you found in both speeches?
2. How do both speeches help you resolve interpersonal conflicts?
3. Which between the two is more effective to use in resolving conflicts? Defend your choice.

Now that you have fully grasped the concepts of extemporaneous and impromptu speeches, it’s now time for you to answer some items in the link provided. Click the website below. This is a quiz about your understanding of the two speeches.

ACTIVITY NO. 15: WATCH AND LEARN!

Given the concepts you learned in the previous activities, you will now apply them in identifying speeches. In this activity, you will watch different video clips and identify their structures and elements. Be able to take note of your observations in your online notebook in the link http://notes.io/ for you to answer worksheet #9 below.

Video 1: This is a video of Senator Jinggoy Estrada dated March 12, 2013 entitled, “The Tale of Two Incredible Witnesses.” Click the link below to watch the video.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What kind of speeches did you observe in the materials you viewed?
2. How did the characters deliver them? What are differences in their delivery?
3. How did they express themselves in solving the issues presented in the materials viewed?
4. Who among them is the most effective in delivering their speeches? Who effectively resolves the issues? Support your stance.

WORKSHEET #9: GIVE ME SOME DONUTS!
Apply your understanding of the different speeches and their elements. Be able to summarize the three materials viewed in the previous activity using the worksheet below. Each material you viewed corresponds to one donut and do the instructions given.

Upper Part: What did I learn from the speech?
Video 1: Identify the kind of speech used
Lower Part: What is the manner of the delivery?

What else do I want to learn from the speech I heard? Write it outside the donut.

2. How are interpersonal conflicts resolved?
3. Which among the three materials you viewed best resolves interpersonal conflicts? Support your stance.

ACTIVITY NO. 16: MY TURN, MY SHARE!

It is now time for you to share your personal perspectives on issues and conflicts you experience in reality. Be able to apply the different strategies in communicating your thoughts to resolve these conflicts or issues given. Apply the tips in writing outline for your speeches. Answer worksheet #10 below.

WORKSHEET #10: OUTLINING MY IMPROMPTU SPEECH

Apply your knowledge of the strategies in outlining a speech. You will respond to a certain topic and substantiate it by providing examples and explanations.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. How did you give your stance in the issue given? What were your bases in making the decision?
2. How would you know that your resolution is effective? Cite ways.

Now that you have already written your outline, you practice speaking the lines by following the rules in delivering an impromptu speech. Be able to go back to your notes when you assessed your delivery of speeches in the previous activities for you to improve your performance here. Check which area you can still improve and what details in delivery you need to become an effective speaker.

ACTIVITY NO. 17: SELF-IMPROVEMENT PLAN
Below is a guide for you to genuinely assess your performance before and after you deliver your final piece. Be able to fill-out the necessary information so that you can easily identify the development and progress of the manner of your delivery. Process Questions to Answer:
1. What areas in your delivery that need much attention? How did you go about them? What remediation did you make?
2. How does the activity help you improve your performance?

Now that you have fill-out the first column of the table above, it is now time for you to do the next activity.
ACTIVITY NO. 18: SAMPLE MO, SHOW MO!

In this activity, you will deliver your final impromptu speech following the criteria set above. Be able to wear a formal attire to fit yourself to the level of your audience and remember the tips given to you previously in this lesson. Speak with confidence and deliver the speech naturally like you are conversing with friends in a formal gathering. Furthermore, you have to take a video of yourself delivering your final piece for you to review it again and answer the last column of the self-improvement plan. Afterwards, post your performance in the link www.youtube.com for others to comment and see. Are you ready? Sample Mo, Show Mo!

Congratulations! Now that you have already posted your final performance in YouTube, review it again and answer the last column of the self-improvement plan in the previous activity. Be able to take note of your observations and write them in your online notebook in this link http://notes.io/.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. What changes occurred before and after your final performance?
2. What helped you improve your delivery of the impromptu speech?
3. How does the language you used help you in expressing your stance about the issue?
4. Were you affective in doing such? In what way/s. Cite specific observations.
ACTIVITY NO. 19: REVISITING THE FRAYER’S MODEL

With all the activities you've done in this lesson, it is just timely that you go back to your previous answers in the Frayer’s Model. Check if concepts have changed after all the tests you have been through in this lesson. Be able to take note of the changes and write them in your online notebook in this link http://notes.io/.

End of FIRM-UP:

In this section, the discussion was about the different elements and structures of impromptu and extemporaneous speeches. Go back to the previous section and compare your initial ideas with the discussion. How much of your initial ideas are found in the discussion? Which ideas are different and need revision? What new learning goal should you now try to achieve?

Now that you know the important ideas about this topic, let's go deeper by moving on to the next section.
DEEPEN

Now that you have learned about the different functions, elements and structures of impromptu and extemporaneous speeches, it’s time for you to apply all the concepts you have learned into meaningful tasks and integrate your personal experience based on the situations given.

Your goal in this section is to take a closer look at these aspects of the lesson.

ACTIVITY NO. 21: GUIDED GENERALIZATION

In the previous activities, you read excerpts of stories and videos clips that tackle some issues in reality. At this point, you will answer the activity below to check how much you understood the concepts explained in this lesson. Be able to follow instruction and answer questions comprehensively.

who had been seared in the flames of withering injustice. It came as a joyous daybreak to end the long night of their captivity.

But one hundred years later, the Negro still is not free. One hundred years later, the life of the Negro is still sadly crippled by the manacles of segregation and the chains of discrimination. One hundred years later, the Negro lives on a lonely island of poverty in the midst of a vast ocean of material prosperity. One hundred years later, the Negro is still languished in the corners of American society and finds himself an exile in his own land. And so we've come here today to dramatize a shameful condition.

In a sense we've come to our nation's capital to cash a check. When the architects of our republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to which every American was to fall heir. This note was a promise that was born. Eris, the goddess of mischief, was not invited to the marriage feast, so into the middle of the banquet hall she threw a golden apple. The golden apple has this note: To the fairest of the goddesses. Each of the most beautiful of the goddesses- namely, Hera, Athena, and Aphrodite- claimed the golden apple.

all men, yes, black men as well as white men, would be guaranteed the "unalienable Rights" of "Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness." It is obvious today that America has defaulted on this promissory note, insofar as her citizens of color are concerned. Instead of honoring this sacred obligation, America has given the Negro people a bad check, a check which has come back marked "insufficient funds."

But we refuse to believe that the bank of justice is bankrupt. We refuse to believe that there are insufficient funds in the great vaults of opportunity of this nation. And so, we've come to cash this check, a check that will give us upon demand the riches of freedom and the security of justice.

We have also come to this hallowed spot to remind America of the fierce urgency of Now. This is no time to engage in the luxury of cooling off or to take the tranquilizing drug of gradualism. Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy. Now is the time to rise from the dark and desolate valley of segregation to the sunlit Athena promised him wisdom; Aphrodite promised that she would give him the most beautiful woman in the world for his wife. Alexandros awarded the golden apple to Aphrodite.

It happened that Helen the most beautiful woman in the world was already married to Menelaos, king of Sparta. With the help of Aphrodite, Alexandros abducted Helen and took her to Troy where she remained until the end of the ensuing Trojan War. That is the reason why she is called Helen of Troy. path of racial justice. Now is the time to lift our nation from the quick sands of racial injustice to the solid rock of brotherhood. Now is the time to make justice a reality for all of God's children.

It would be fatal for the nation to overlook the urgency of the moment. This sweltering summer of the Negro's legitimate discontent will not pass until there is an invigorating autumn of freedom and equality. Nineteen sixty-three is not an end, but a beginning. And those who hope that the Negro needed to blow off steam and will now be content will have a rude awakening if the nation returns to business as usual. And there will be neither rest nor tranquility in America until the Negro is granted his citizenship rights. The whirlwinds of revolt will continue to shake the foundations of our nation until the bright day of justice emerges.

But there is something that I must say to my people, who stand on the warm threshold which leads into the palace of justice: In the process of gaining our rightful place, we must not be guilty of wrongful and began to attack its fortifications. The Iliad begins in the tenth year of the war.

deeds. Let us not seek to satisfy our thirst for freedom by drinking from the cup of bitterness and hatred. We must forever conduct our struggle on the high plane of dignity and discipline. We must not allow our creative protest to degenerate into physical violence. Again and again, we must rise to the majestic heights of meeting physical force with soul force.

The marvelous new militancy which has engulfed the Negro community must not lead us to a distrust of all white people, for many of our white brothers, as evidenced by their presence here today, have come to realize that their destiny is tied up with our destiny. And they have come to realize that their freedom is inextricably bound to our freedom.

We cannot walk alone.

And as we walk, we must make the pledge that we shall always march ahead.

We cannot turn back.

There are those who are asking the devotees of civil rights, "When will you be satisfied?"
We can never be satisfied as long as the Negro is the victim of the unspeakable horrors of police brutality. We can never be satisfied as long as our bodies, heavy with the fatigue of travel, cannot gain lodging in the motels of the highways and the hotels of the cities. We cannot be satisfied as long as the negro's basic mobility is from a smaller ghetto to a larger one. We can never be satisfied as long as our children are stripped of their self-hood and robbed of their dignity by a sign stating: "For Whites Only." We cannot be satisfied as long as a Negro in Mississippi cannot vote and a Negro in New York believes he has nothing for which to vote. No, no, we are not satisfied, and we will not be satisfied until justice rolls down like waters, and righteousness like a mighty stream.

I am not unmindful that some of you have come here out of great trials and tribulations. Some of you have come fresh from narrow jail cells. And some of you have come from areas where your quest -- quest for freedom left you battered by the storms of persecution and staggered by the winds of police brutality. You have been the veterans of creative suffering. Continue to work with the faith that unearned suffering is redemptive. Go back to Mississippi, go back to Alabama, go back to South Carolina, go back to Georgia, go back to Louisiana, go back to the slums and ghettos of our northern cities, knowing that somehow this situation can and will be changed.

Let us not wallow in the valley of despair, I say to you today, my friends - so even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream.

I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal."

I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia, the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the heat of injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice.

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

I have a dream today!

I have a dream that one day, down in Alabama, with its vicious racists, with its governor having his lips dripping with the words of "interposition" and "nullification" -- one day right there in Alabama little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers.

I have a dream today!

I have a dream that one day every valley shall be exalted, and every hill and mountain shall be made low, the rough places will be made plain, and the crooked places will be made straight, and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed and all flesh shall see it together.

This is our hope, and this is the faith that I go back to the South with.

With this faith, we will be able to hew out of the mountain of despair a stone of hope. With this faith, we will be able to transform the jangling discords of our nation into a beautiful symphony of brotherhood. With this faith, we will be able to work together, to pray together, to struggle together, to go to jail together, to stand up for freedom together, knowing that we will be free one day.

And this will be the day -- this will be the day when all of God's children will be able to sing with new meaning:

"My country 'tis of thee, sweet land of liberty, of thee I sing.

From every mountaintop, let freedom ring!"

And if America is to be a great nation, this must become true.

And so let freedom ring from the prodigious hilltops of New Hampshire.

Let freedom ring from the mighty mountains of New York.

Let freedom ring from the heightening Alleghenies of Pennsylvania.

Let freedom ring from the snow-capped Rockies of Colorado.

Let freedom ring from the curvaceous slopes of California.

But not only that:

Let freedom ring from Stone Mountain of Georgia.

Let freedom ring from Lookout Mountain of Tennessee.

Let freedom ring from every hill and molehill of Mississippi.

From every mountainside, let freedom ring.

And when this happens, when we allow freedom ring, when we let it ring from every village and every hamlet, from every state and every city, we will be able to speed up that day when all of God's children, black men and white men, Jews and Gentiles, Protestants and Catholics, will be able to join hands and sing in the words of the old Negro spiritual:

"Free at last! Free at last!
Thank God Almighty, we are free at last!"

ACTIVITY NO. 22: THE SENATE DEBATE

In this activity, you have to polish your understanding on the construction of your speeches in preparation for your final tasks in this lesson. With that, you will watch the video of Miriam Santiago’s privilege speech as your reference in responding to worksheet #11. Click the link below. Click the link here: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EP14lsOfbU. This site shows a video of Miriam Santiago’s Privilege Speech

After watching the video, write a response using the STOP AND DARE planning worksheet below.
WORKSHEET #11: STOP AND DARE!
Apply your knowledge in writing a speech. Be able to fill-out the necessary details in the spaces provided. Follow the instructions very carefully to craft your speech in a manner that best shows your feelings and thoughts about a certain issue or conflict.

Using what you have written in the organizer above, write your speech in the box. Then, post it in the debate link www.idebate.org. Post the link in the tumbler.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. How did you make a stance on the given issue? What were the bases of your decision?
2. What’s the manner of your expression in resolving the issue?
3. Why is expressing one’s thoughts and feelings important?

ACTIVITY NO. 23: GENERALIZATION MATRIX

In this activity, you will answer the matrix to be able to assess your understanding on the concepts used in this lesson in connection to solving interpersonal conflicts. Be able to fill-out the necessary data and answer the questions and stems comprehensively based on your understanding.

and be silent, that you may hear: believe me for mine honor, and have respect to mine honor, that you may believe: censure me to your wisdom, and wake your senses, that you mat the better judge. If there be any in this assembly, any dear friend of Caesar's, to him I say that Brutus' love to Caesar was no less than his. If then that friend demand why Brutus rose against Caesar, this is my answer: not that I loved Caesar less, but that I love Rome more. Had you rather Caesar were living, and die all slaves, than that Caesar were dead, to live all freemen? As Caesar loved me, I weep for him; as he was fortunate, I rejoice at it; as he was valiant, I honor him; but as he was ambitious, I slew him.

There is tears for his love; joy for his fortune; honor for his valor; and death for his ambition.

Who is here so base that would be a bondman? If any, speak: for him have I offended.

Who is here so rude that would not be a Roman? If any, speak: for him have I offended.

Who is here so vile that will not love his country? If any, speak: for him into an act of revenge having nothing to do with Helen. Men begin to kill each other out of revenge to honor fallen comrades, or rather victims of the war. As the characters in the Iliad lose their comrades to death, rage feelings flow through their veins pumping revenge plans in and out with every breath.

The loss of a friends' love to death in this poem creates a sub-reason to continue the fighting. For example, the friendship between Achilles and his beloved comrade Patroclus demonstrates the two have a strong bond between them, which reaches beyond that of wartime relations. Patroclus and Achilles grew up together in Phthia and have a superior friendship. Achilles dealt with feeling of guilt at Patroclus death, because it was Patroclus who went to war to fight in Achilles armor and for Achilles. Therefore, Achilles becomes enraged at the death of his friend Patroclus because he is losing a life long companion. This coupled with the tensions of the war and stimulants brought on travel there, so he is living in Amsterdam with his grandparents. On Sunday afternoon, Hello tells Anne that his grandmother did not approve of his association with such a young girl. He also says that he prefers Anne to his old girlfriend Ursul. Hello tells Anne that he will be free Wednesday evenings as well as parts of Saturdays and Sundays, since he used to go to meetings for a Zionist organization but decided not to attend them anymore. On Monday, he meets Anne’s parents, then he and Anne go for a walk and do not return until after eight in the evening. Anne’s father is furious, and she promises to return before eight in the future. Anne confesses that she is really in love with a boy named Peter, even though he is dating other girls, and that Hello is just a friend or a beau. Anne receives decent grades on her report card but adds that her parents do not care about grades as much as some of her friends’ parents do. Anne’s father explains that they will likely have to go into hiding.

through the Trojans ignites a fire in Achilles to lash out at the Trojans. Hector being the greatest Trojan in battle and also the murderer of Achilles friend Patroclus is the prime recipient for Achilles rage.

To explain quickly how this comes about I must go back to before the death of Patroclus. Patroclus enters the battles out of concern for Achilles. Achilles is being a brat, and will not join the battle. Patroclus wears Achilles armor, and ventures out into the battle lines, but later is slain by Hector. While he is in battle, Patroclus fights very well. He is a strong warrior and aids the Achaeans in slowing down the Trojans from entering the ships. Patroclus inflicts death on many of the Trojan men, thus allowing rage to fill within the Trojans, and Hector. A specific encounter is with Sarpedon. Patroclus is the man responsible for Sarpedon’s demise. After the death of Sarpedon, Glaucus feels tremendous guilt and loss for his friend whom called to him during his last breath, “Glaucus, oh dear soon, which is why they have been asking friends to store their belongings. He tells her that they will “leave of [their] own accord” instead of waiting for the Germans to take them and that Anne does not have to worry about it right away. She is greatly dismayed by her father’s plans. Three days later, on Sunday afternoon, Anne’s sister, Margot, tells her that their father had received a call-up notice from the SS, the elite Nazi guard. Later, alone in their room, Margot tells Anne that it was really herself, not Mr. Frank, who had been called up. The girls quickly start packing their things. The next day, they pile on as many layers of clothes as they can, since they cannot risk carrying suitcases. Margot leaves the house first, carrying a schoolbag full of books, and Anne follows later that evening. Eventually, the entire family arrives at their hiding place in Otto Frank’s office building at 263 Prinsengracht. A secret annex was hidden upstairs from the office, behind a big gray door.
friend, dear fighter, solders solider! Now is the time to prove yourself a spearman, a daring man of war”. (Fagles, Robert. The Iliad. Book XVI Line82-85) Glaucus prays to Apollo to heal his injuries so that he may rally the Lycians and drive them to war in revenge for Sarpedon’s lifeless body. (Fagles, Robert. The Iliad. Book XVI lines120) Apollo grants Glaucus this strength and Glaucus then races towards the Trojan lines. Upon arriving, Glaucus fills the empty ears of the Trojan’s with the news of Sarpedon’s death. The Trojan’s feel tremendous grief at this loss. Sarpedon is Zeus’ son, and his death fuels and angry fire of revenge in the Trojans. For this reason Hector is given the stimulus to lash out and violently rip Patroclus’ life from him; thus firing up Achilles to light up with rage and lash out at hector in revenge. people who work in the office are informed of the Franks’ arrival. Margot is waiting for the rest of the family in the annex, which is stocked with dozens of cardboard boxes that had been sent over time. Anne and her father start unpacking the boxes as her mother and sister sleep. Anne writes that she did not have time until Wednesday to consider the “enormous change in [her] life,” and that she finally had time to tell her diary about it and think about “what had happened to [her] and what was yet to happen.”

ACTIVITY NO.24: LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION!

In the next activity, you will watch a video presentation of a person delivering a speech. Observe intently and evaluate his/her performance by looking into the details of the presentation and the message conveyed. Be able to use the skills you learned previously to assess his or her performance.
Click the link here to watch the video:

TRY DOING IT YOURSELF!

Read the argumentative essay you posted in www.idebate.org to a partner who will then give comments of your essay and the way you deliver it. Use the rubric below to evaluate your peer’s performance. Post the video of your delivery and the critiquing part of your partner in www.youtube.com.

End of DEEPEN:

In this section, the discussion was about how to apply your basic skills in delivering speeches. You noticed that speeches vary in terms of their structure, composition/elements and purpose.

What new realizations do you have about the topic? What new connections have you made for yourself? What helped you make these connections?

Now that you have a deeper understanding of the topic, you are ready to do the tasks in the next section.
TRANSFER

Your goal in this section is apply your learning to real life situations. You will be given a practical task which will demonstrate your understanding.

ACTIVITY NO. 27: TED TALKS

In support to your previous activities in this lesson, try doing the next activity and apply all the knowledge and skills you learned about delivering an impromptu and extemporaneous speeches. You are given a situation below to respond to and read the instruction carefully so that you will get what is asked for. Post your written output in your blog and share the link in www.tumblr.com. Likewise, post the video of you delivering the speech to www.youtube.com.

The Council on Foreign Relations, an independent, nonpartisan membership organization, think tank, and publisher has been a trusted, nonpartisan source of timely analysis and context on international events and trends. They always open their doors for writers and publishers to post videos, articles, and podcasts in their website. For the month of September, their discussion focus is on resolving conflicts to have a peaceful global community. Being an editor of a news magazine, they have invited you to write an argumentative essay about society and culture to make the world understand how these two factors allow conflicts to be resolved. The writer of the best argumentative essay will be given an opportunity to deliver his speech through a video presentation and present it in Ted Talks. The argumentative essay needs to be persuasive, effective and credible. Your argumentative speech delivery must be proficient, engaging and insightful.

Process Questions to Answer:
1. How did your performance improve compared to the speeches you delivered previously?
2. If you were to rate your performance, what rating would you give yourself? Justify your rating.
ACTIVITY NO. 28: CONCEPT MAP

You are almost done with the module. Try to review what you have been through in learning the concepts of argumentative speeches like impromptu and extemporaneous. Summarize everything you learned through a concept map and connect one concept to another. Label your concepts appropriately to show the flow of your presentation. Post your work in www.voki.com.

ACTIVITY NO. 29: CONFLICT MANAGEMENT 101

Choose any of the following tasks below by responding to what it calls for. Use the rubric as your guide in making your own performance.

ACTIVITY NO. 32: LEARNING LOG

In this activity, you will fill-out a learning log chart to summarize the things you learned in this module. Be able to honestly assess yourself by going back to your online notebook in http://notes.io/.

How did you do in the activities? Fill in the organizer below and post a screenshot on www.pinterest.com.

End of TRANSFER:
In this section, your task was to manage a conflict based on the real situations given. You were able to summarize your learning and apply the necessary skills in delivering an impromptu or extemporaneous speech to resolve interpersonal conflicts.

Thus in doing so, how did you find the performance task? How did the task help you see the real world use of the topic?

Finally, you have completed this lesson. Before you go to the next lesson, you have to answer the following post-assessment.
POST-ASSESSMENT:
It’s now time to evaluate your learning. Click on the letter of the answer that you think best answers the question. Your score will only appear after you answer all items. If you do well, you may move on to the next module. If your score is not at the expected level, you have to go back and take the module again.

(A) 1. Which of the following does not describe a main argument of an argumentative essay?
   a. It puts forth your arguments.
   b. It requires complete ground up arguments.
   c. It includes potential objections.

c. Majority of the people are not sure if what they witnessed was bullying.
d. Majority of bullying was witnessed by few people.

I will try to give the reader of this article some idea of the real nature of Gothic architecture, not just of Venice, but of universal Gothic. One of the most interesting parts of our study will be to find out how far Venetian architecture went in achieving the perfect type of Gothic, and how far it fell short of it.

(A) 5. The author’s purpose is to
   a. explain the importance of Gothic architecture.
   b. describe Venetian architecture.
   c. show how Venetian architecture is different from Gothic architecture.
   d. show the nature of Gothic architecture.

(A) 6. “The rise of online gambling on the internet since the 1990s has made government control much harder. In some countries like the USA (with the exception of New Jersey), online gambling is against the law. But in many states online gambling is now legal. And companies can set up in any country where online gambling is allowed, and offer a service to internet users all over the world. So gamblers seeking fewer rules, new games, or better odds have gone online in their millions. In the UK alone online gambling is a £2billion industry. Many people who never bet on a race or visited a casino now gamble online. All of this new activity worries campaigners against gambling, as well as governments who feel that their control is being lost. Based on the passage, which of the following questions best represents its affirmative motion?
   a. Should online gambling be made illegal?
   b. Should online gambling be prioritized?
   c. Should online gambling be developed?
   d. Should online gambling be accepted?

(Odysseus, in his tale:) "Dear friends, surely we are not unlearned in evils. This is no greater evil now than it was when the Cyclops had us cooped in his hollow cave by force and violence, but even there, by my courage and counsel and my intelligence, we escaped away. I think that all this will be remembered someday too. Then do as I say, let us all be won over." (12.208-213)

(M) 9. What does Odyssey mean by his words?
   a. They cannot overcome the difficulty
   b. He believes in their capability to overcome difficulty.
   c. They will be defeated by the difficulty.
   d. The difficulty is stopping them from succeeding.

Penelope:
Listen to me you suitors, who persist in abusing the hospitality of this house because its owner has been long absent, and without other pretext than that you want to marry me; this, then, being the prize that you are contending for, I will bring out the mighty bow of Odysseus... and quit this house of my lawful husband, so goodly, and so abounding in wealth.

(M) 10. What kind of attitude did Penelope show when she said these words.
   a. She is weak.
   b. She is dependent on Odysseus.
   c. She is unafraid.
   d. She is rich.
(M) 11. Which line from the excerpt of Odyssey tells you that Penelope did not lose her loyalty to her husband?
   a. Listen to me you suitors, who persist in abusing the hospitality of this house
   b. Its owner has been long absent, and without other pretext than that you want to marry me
   c. I will bring out the mighty bow of Odysseus
   d. And quit this house of my lawful husband, so goodly, and so abounding in wealth.

(M) 12. Which of the following excerpts from the story, “To Kill a Mockingbird” by Harper Lee best resolves a conflict based on the person’s perspective?
   a. Atticus puts a stop to their antics, urging the children to try to see life from another person’s perspective before making judgments. But, on Dill’s last night in Maycomb for the summer, the three sneak onto the Radley property, where Nathan Radley shoots at them. Jem loses his pants in the ensuing escape. When he returns for them, he finds them mended and hung over the fence.
   b. To the consternation of Maycomb’s racist white community, Atticus agrees to defend a black man named Tom Robinson, who has been accused of raping a white woman. Because of Atticus’s decision, Jem and Scout are subjected to abuse from other children, even when they celebrate Christmas at the family compound on Finch’s Landing. Calpurnia, the Finches’ black cook, takes them to the local black church, where the warm and close-knit community largely embraces the children.
   c. Scout feels as though she can finally imagine what life is like for Boo. He has become a human being to her at last. With this realization, Scout embraces her father’s advice to practice sympathy and understanding and demonstrates that her experiences with hatred and prejudice will not sully her faith in human goodness.
   d. Yet, despite the significant evidence pointing to Tom’s innocence, the all-white jury convicts him. The innocent Tom later tries to escape from prison and is shot to death. In the aftermath of the trial, Jem’s faith in justice is badly shaken, and he lapses into despondency and doubt.
(M) 13. Based on the choices above, which of the following best explains the concept of an argumentation?
   a. Atticus Finch goes up against the racist society in which he lives. He has the courage to defend a black man.
   b. Yet, despite the significant evidence pointing to Tom's innocence, the all-white jury convicts him.
   c. Atticus puts a stop to their antics, urging the children to try to see life from another person's perspective before making judgments.
   d. Jem's faith in justice is badly shaken, and he lapses into despondency and doubt.

(M) 14. Which of the following truths reveal the concept of conflicts?
   a. A conflict is more than just a disagreement.
   b. Conflicts continue to fester when ignored.
   c. We respond to conflicts based on our perceptions of the situation, not necessarily to an objective review of the facts.
   d. Conflicts trigger strong emotions.
